THE HOUSING AFFORDABILITY CRISIS IS SOLVABLE

Lives have already been positively changed in your district by affordable developments. Everyone talks about California’s high cost of housing—this is the moment leaders like you can support bold solutions to do something about it.

Use your legislative power to invest significant state investment in housing to lift more of your constituents out of poverty and create a meaningful legacy you can be proud of.

FEDERAL and STATE INVESTMENT ARE ESSENTIAL

Transforming Lives in Senate District 14

Since 1986, affordable-home developers in your district have worked through public-private partnerships and:

- Created 24,870 construction jobs and 6,797 permanent jobs
- Built 15,447 affordable homes/apartments
- Lifting families out of poverty
- Generated $479 million in annual economic activity

CLOSE THE GAP

Developers have to pull together a complicated array of public and private funding sources to build affordable apartments. But, massive state and federal disinvestment in housing has left a huge and growing gap, making affordable home development less feasible.

The Housing Affordability Crisis is Solvable

Lives have already been positively changed in your district by affordable developments. Everyone talks about California’s high cost of housing—this is the moment leaders like you can support bold solutions to do something about it.

Use your legislative power to invest significant state investment in housing to lift more of your constituents out of poverty and create a meaningful legacy you can be proud of.

FUNDING GAP

PRIVATE BANK LOANS
STATE TAX CREDITS
FEDERAL TAX CREDITS

IN THE 14TH SENATE DISTRICT

Home is the foundation for life. All success begins with having an affordable place to live.

There’s No Place Like Home in the 14th Senate District

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.

California’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

CalHOME’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.

California’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.

California’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.

California’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.

California’s long-standing housing crisis demands a comprehensive and sustainable plan to increase the supply of housing affordable to families struggling to get by. Increasing the supply of housing will not only stabilize families, it will create jobs and make California competitive again.

Lincoln-McKinley stands out as a model for affordable development that transforms lives. Located in Dinuba, CA, this affordable community includes 11 single-family homes built under the mutual self-help method of construction with homeowners providing over 70 percent of the construction labor. Families not only build their homes and those of their neighbors, they also build an instant community and a sense of place. The homes are conveniently located near a school, public transportation, and other services.

This project was partially financed with the state Self-Help Housing/CalHOME and Joe Serna Farmworker Housing programs.